My dear brothers . . .

I have come before your today with a heavy heart.

All of your know how hard we have tried. But it is a matter of sadness that the streets of D   a, Rangpur and Rajshahi are today being spattered with the blood of my brothers, and the people is a cry for freedom a cry for survival, a cry for our rights.

You are the ones who brought about an Awami League victory so you could see a constitu   red. The hope was that the elected representatives of the people, sitting in the National A constitution that would assure that people of their economic, political and cultural emanci   eat sadness in my heart, I look back on the past 23 years of our history and see nothing b the blood of the Bengali people. Ours has been a history of continual lamentation, repeate   ent tears.

We gave blood in 1952, we won a mandate in 1954. But we were still not allowed to take up the reins of this country. In 1958, Ayub Khan clamped Martial Law on our people and enslaved us for the next 10 many were the young men and women whose lives were stilled by government bullets.

After the downfall of Ayub, Mr. Yahya Khan took over with the promise that he would restore constitutional rule, that he would restore democracy and return power to the people.

We agreed. But you all know of the events that took place after that I ask you, are we the ones to blame?

As you know, I have been in contract with President Yahya Khan. As leader of the majority part in the national Assembly, I asked him to set February 15 as the day for its opening session. He did not acced he went along with the delay requested by the minority leader Mr. Bhutto and announced that the Assembly would be convened on the 3rd of March.

We accepted that, agreed to join the deliberations. I even went to the extent of saying that we, despite our majority, would still listen to any sound ideas from the minority, even if it were a lone voice. I com
